Program Description

Beyond the Game is a flagship youth mentorship and sports empowerment program by PHD Africa, targeting youth aged 13–17. The program offers a powerful blend of mentorship sessions and basketball competition over two transformative days—designed to develop emotional, spiritual, and physical resilience, along with practical life and career skills.

There is no denying that Sports and Recreation are powerful vehicles for youth mobilization and life transformation. It's for this reason that PHD Africa runs this program, inspired by the late Rachel Odima—a true hero and Ambassador of Siaya County. Rachel left a lasting legacy not only on the basketball court but in the hearts of those she mentored and inspired. Though she only lived for two decades, her journey from Kenya to Wenatchee Valley College in Washington, USA, continues to uplift millions across the globe. Her story fuels the spirit behind Beyond the Game—calling young people to live boldly, lead with purpose, and dream beyond borders.

Our Objectives

1. Build physical endurance through sports
2. Promote emotional and psychological wellness
3. Foster spiritual grounding and moral values
4. Provide career guidance and global mentorship
5. Inculcate life skills and leadership development
6. Connect youth to scholarships, apprenticeships, and opportunities

Target Audience

1. Age Group: 13–17 years
2. Participants: 500–600 youth from various counties (with a focus on underserved communities)
3. Demographics: Mixed gender, inclusive and diverse
